THE UNKNOWN TRUTH ABOUT THE ROYAL FAMILY

The Royal Family is the most remarkable family in the world. They have 28 billion Dollars. They attract attention with their luxurious life, expensive clothes, jewelleries and art pieces.

In the past few days, Buchingham Palace announced the death of Queen Elizabeth 2. While most people were saddened by the news, there were also people who thought that the queen was not worthy of this love and respect and they think The Queen's estate should be donated to the public. The reason for this reaction is the rules which are absurd, unnecessary and noncontemporary. For example, royal women must apply nail polish which must be always nude tones, dress conservatively and be size zero. Another reason of why people feel antipathy for The Queen is what was done to Lady Diana in the past, and The Queen's pressure on the other 2 brides, Kate Middleton and especially Meghan Markle. In an interview, Markle was asked by Oprah Winfrey "Did you have any suicidal thoughts?" to which Markle replied, "Yes." "I thought it would solve everything for everyone."

According to British Heritage the queen was above the law. The monarch had the right to be protected from all investigations, thanks to the principle of high privilege. According to Cornell University's Legal Information Institute, this principle of British common law surmises that the state -or monarch - can do no legal wrong and can only be sued for its crimes by its own consent. Queen Elizabeth was the UK's head of state and the courts and law all operated in her name. This shows us how powerful the queen is. She was powerful enough to cover up someone's assassination. That's why, 85% of people in the UK think Lady Diana had been murdered and The Queen was involved in this incident.

In the following pages, we will talk about three main topics which will be Diana's life and her mysterious death, Kate's life and the possibility of her being the queen and lastly Meghan's life and how she left the royal family.

DIANA THE PRINCESS OF WALES

She was aware their second child was a boy, but did not share the knowledge with anyone else, including Charles as he was hoping for a girl. Diana gave her sons wider experiences than was usual for royal children. She chose their first given names, dismissed a royal family nanny and engaged one of her own choosing, selected their schools and clothing, planned their outings, and took them to school herself as often as her schedule permitted. She also organised her public duties around their timetables. Diana was reported to have described Harry as "naughty, just like me", and William as "my little wise old man" whom she started to rely on as her confidant by his early teens. After Harry was born, Charles and Diana's relationship got worse. They started to live apart and started seeing other people. Even some speculations got arisen. In 1995 Diana made an interview in Panorama which is a British TV programme. She spoke really honestly about her marriage. THE FUTURE QUEEN KATE MIDDLETON

Her Life Story:

Kate Middleton (Catherine Elizabeth Middleton) was born in Reading on 9 January 1982 into an upper-middle-class family. Kate attended exclusive boarding schools, including St. Andrew's Prep School, Downe House, and Marlborough College. She was interested in sports during her school years. She met William at the University of St. Andrews. They were friends at first. In 2002, Middleton appeared in a fashion-show fundraiser with a transparent dress. William was interested in Kate in a new way but she was in a relationship. Therefore, she spurned the prince's advances. At the end of the 2002 school term, Middleton's boyfriend graduated and they broke up. Thus, Kate and William started a relationship. On November 16, 2010, Middleton and William announced their engagement. The prince proposed during a vacation to Kenya the engagement ring worn by his mother, Princess Diana. The couple married on April 29, 2011, at Westminster Abbey in London. On July 22, 2013, Middleton gave birth to her son, Prince George Alexander Louis of Cambridge. On May 2, 2015, she gave birth to a daughter, Princess Charlotte Elizabeth Diana. On April 23, 2018, Prince Louis Arthur Charles was born. Middleton's full-time job is as Duchess of Cambridge.

Kate and William must abide by royal rules as they are at the forefront of the throne. This puts a lot of pressure on them but Kate was more used to these rules than Diana and Meghan because she has been with William for 8 years. Let's talk about some rules

- Princesses always have to dress their best. Of course, elegance is beautiful. But imagine if you had to be stylish 7/24?

- Princesses who later joined the royal family could not attend an invitation earlier than those who became princesses by blood. Let me explain more clearly to you. Kate is not allowed to set foot in that hall before Princess Anne arrives.

- Working in the office is also prohibited. Kate had been working for her family before she got married. The firm was in the business of shipping goods and organizing parties. Now Kate's job is to visit schools, charity dinners, hospital openings.

- Women in the royal family are allowed to wear nail polish, but only nude tones can be used.

- It is forbidden to shop alone.

- She has to go to the beauty parlor at least 3 times a week. The Duchess should always look perfect and her hair should be flawless. Although Kate Middleton's neat and well-groomed hair seems to comply with the rules, it is also among the rumors that Queen Elizabeth found Kate's hair long and told her hairdresser to cut it 10 cm.

- Royal family members are not allowed to wear sleeveless and low-cut dresses with exposed shoulders. Kate Middleton, from time to time, prefers sleeveless and open-shouldered dresses at the parties.

- According to this rule set by Queen Elizabeth, when a dress or skirt is preferred, tan pantyhose must be worn.

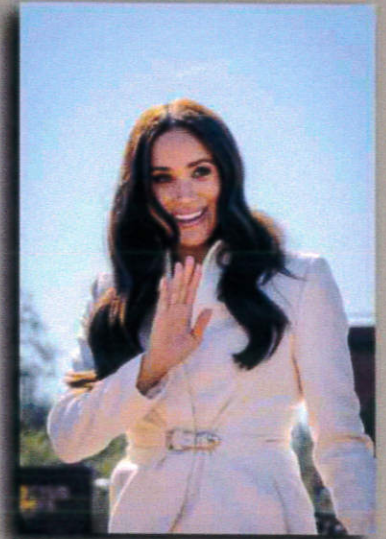

- Holding hands, hugging, kissing, or any other act of showing love in public is prohibited.

MEGHAN MARKLE AND THE ROYAL FAMILY

Meghan markle the duchess of Sussex was born in 1981. She was raised in Los Angeles, California. She is an American member of the British royal family. She is a former actress. Her acting career began at Northwestern University. Her last and most known role was Rachel Zane for seven seasons in the American tv show Suits. She retired from her acting career on account of her marriage with prince harry the duke of Sussex. They now have two children Archie and Lilibet. In 2020 Harry and Meghan had decided to step down from their lives as senior working royals and decided to live financially independent. The couple says that they have been thinking about this decision for months. Queen Elizabeth, Prince Charles and Prince William, who were not aware of this situation, and learned the news from television channels. British newspapers wrote that the Queen was really shocked and upset by this decision. The media also told that the queen was very angry and felt like she was stabbed in the back because of their decision. Meghan markle admitted that it was difficult to get used to the royalty and that she was not ready for the intense media attention even though he friends warned her that the press could destroy her life and damage her mental health. The newspaper headlines started using the word "Megxit" similar to the word "Brexit" which was used for Britain's exit from the European Union. They have only returned to Uk a few times after their withdrawal and the most recent visit was for the funeral of Queen Elizabeth.

So why is Queen Elizabeth seem like she is not supportive of Meghan Markle? She has broken the royal protocol so many times that we've all lost count! This resulted in the Queen taking action. The Queen has zero tolerance for Meghan's behaviors towards the royal family because she thinks that Meghan is not acting royal at all. She does not obey the clothing rules, she does not act her part and does not listen to any advisors. She has always been an independent woman and facing a situation like this had made her really uncomfortable. These actions that she was being forced to do are mostly the main reason why she and her husband decided to leave the royal family. She also referred it as she was being trapped and feeling controlled by both the media and the system itself the royal family has. Some report claim that Meghan Markle had made Kate Middleton cry over a small disagreement about the flower girls outfit for the wedding. It was reported that Kate was in tears over the wedding fitting for her daughter. However, it turned out to be a rumor that the media has exaggerated probably for attention during the wedding time. She addresses in an interview with Oprah Winfrey that the rumor about making Kate cry, revealing that it was actually Kate who had made her cry and the media had inaccurately reported the incident. "Everyone in the institution knew it wasn't true," Markle said, adding she wasn't sure why no one from the royal family had denied the reports. "There wasn't a confrontation. I don't think it's fair to her to get into the details because she apologized, and I've forgiven her." The interview continued with a serious state that members of the British royal family expressed concern to Prince Harry, about the potential skin color of the couple's first child. Harry did not tell who asked him the offensive question, but he did say there was some real obvious signs before we even got married that this was going to be really hard to handle.
