

Chosen One

Once upon a time in a quite little village, there lived a curious boy named Victor and his grandmother. Victor was over 10 and he liked adventures. He used to walk in the forests and play with animals. He used to imagine stories in his head where he was a warrior.

An ordinary day while walking in the forest, he saw a tree. This was a very thick tree. And in it, there was a very big hollow almost as big as himself. Victor was a curious boy. He wondered what was inside the hollow. He took a step and suddenly began to fall. The child disappeared into darkness.

When he woke up, he found himself inside a little hut. An old man was waiting near him.

"Are you alright?" the old man asked the child.

"Where am I?" the child asked.

Old man, "I found you near the great tree."

Victor asked, "For how much time have I been here?"

The Old man replied, "I think I just found you, but I don't know how much time you were near the tree."

Victor then said, "I must go home; my grandmother will worry."

"Where is your home?" the old man asked.

"I know the way from the big tree. Can you take me there?" said the child.

The old man said, "Let's go then."

When they arrived near the tree, he noticed this place wasn't his place, but the tree was the same. It felt the same as the hollow which he fell inside.

And he said, "I fell into the tree, which is the same as this, but the place isn't the same."

The old man was astonished and ran towards the hut.

Then he shouted, "Come with me!"

He came to the hut and he began searching in the cupboards. He found a very big book. He started searching in the book immediately, then found something. He was very surprised. He said, "First of all, I'll introduce myself. My name is Lucas. I am the wizard of the Rams Kingdom, and you are the chosen one according to this book. This book has the destiny of the Rams Kingdom; it is The Poci Book."

"I don't understand anything," the child said.

"You are in a different land from yours," said the wizard.

"Is your name Victor?"

"Victor? Yes." The wizard was horrified. "Victor! That means we are going to have a very big disaster, but you can save us according to destiny."

Victor was terrified and didn't know what he would do. He wanted to go home but he didn't know how. If the wizard was right and this kingdom was loyal to him, he couldn't leave them behind. He asked, "Is there a way to return to my home?"

Before the wizard could answer, the door knocked.

The messenger brought the news. The news was bad King Mauro had been taken prisoner by Witch Wanda. Queen China sent the news to the wizard.

Victor thought, "This is probably the big disaster that had started." He decided he would help them, but how? He didn't know how he could do it. They would see with time.

Lucas thought he must bring Victor to the Queen. They could make a plan with her. They had to save King Mauro somehow. "Come with me," Lucas said. "We will go to Queen China."

When they came to the Castle, the Queen welcomed them. They didn't wait a moment, they just started talking about the plan. "None of the guards we sent could enter the witch's castle," the Queen said. "They all came back. She has cast a special spell. How can we destroy the spell? And I didn't ask who this boy is."

"My Queen, according to The Poci Book, this boy is the chosen one," said Lucas. "We cannot break that spell, but I think the boy can try to enter."

The Queen wasn't sure. She asked, "Wouldn't this put the boy in danger?"

Victor said, "I will do it."

The Queen said, "Let's move quickly. We don't have any time to lose. Lucas, you will go with the boy, and I will send the guards with you."

When they arrived, Lucas realized he was right: it was impossible to break the spell. A chosen one was needed. Victor started walking to the castle.

When the witch saw the boy, she thought she could send him away, like she sent the guards. She started casting a spell, but it didn't work. It was as if the boy had a protective shield. She felt her spells getting weaker and had nothing left to do.

Victor found the King in the castle. The King's chains from the spell started to melt. Then Victor broke them all.

King Mauro woke up and asked, "Who are you, boy?"

At that moment, Lucas came from behind and said, "He is the chosen one, as The Poci Book says."

After Lucas spoke, the guards came and took the witch, whose magic was gone.

They returned to the kingdom and put the witch in prison. They held a special celebration for the King's return, for the King and the chosen one.

But now Victor didn't know what he would do. He must return to his world. Next, he found Lucas.

Lucas listened to the boy and decided to look at The Poci Book again to help him. The book said he could only return if he fulfilled his destiny. He had fulfilled his destiny. Then they had to go to the tree.

They said goodbye at the tree. Victor went inside the tree and started falling. When he woke up, he realized he had returned to his world. He immediately went home and found his grandmother. He told her what had happened. His grandmother was very worried about him, but now she is very happy to see him.
