

The Monsters' Party

by Beren Tonga & Zeynep Çolak & Mali Kalyoncu

Once upon a time in New York City, there were two brothers named Pip and Chip, and their friend Nova. As always, they met in Central Park. They were chatting with each other while walking.

Pip said, "I'm so sad today."
Nova asked, "What's the matter?"
Pip replied, "I dropped my wallet while I was walking."

ha HA ha!

After Chip had a laughter, Pip got more upset.

Nova: "What are you laughing at."

Nova frowned at Chip. "That's not nice, Chip. Pip is upset," she said.

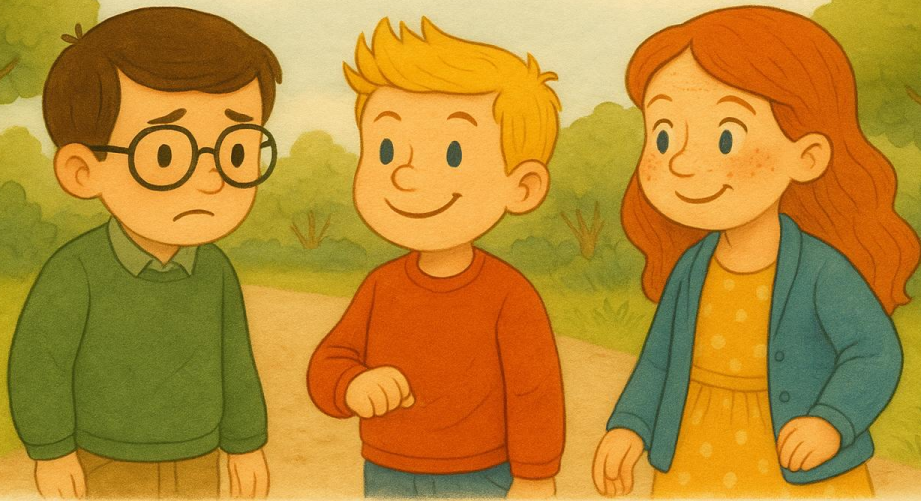

Chip looked a bit guilty.

“I’m sorry, Pip. Let’s help you find your wallet.”

Pip smiled a little.

“Thank you, friends. Let’s look around.”

They all started searching the park together. They looked under the benches, behind the trees, and near the fountain. After a few minutes, Nova shouted, “I see something shiny over there!”

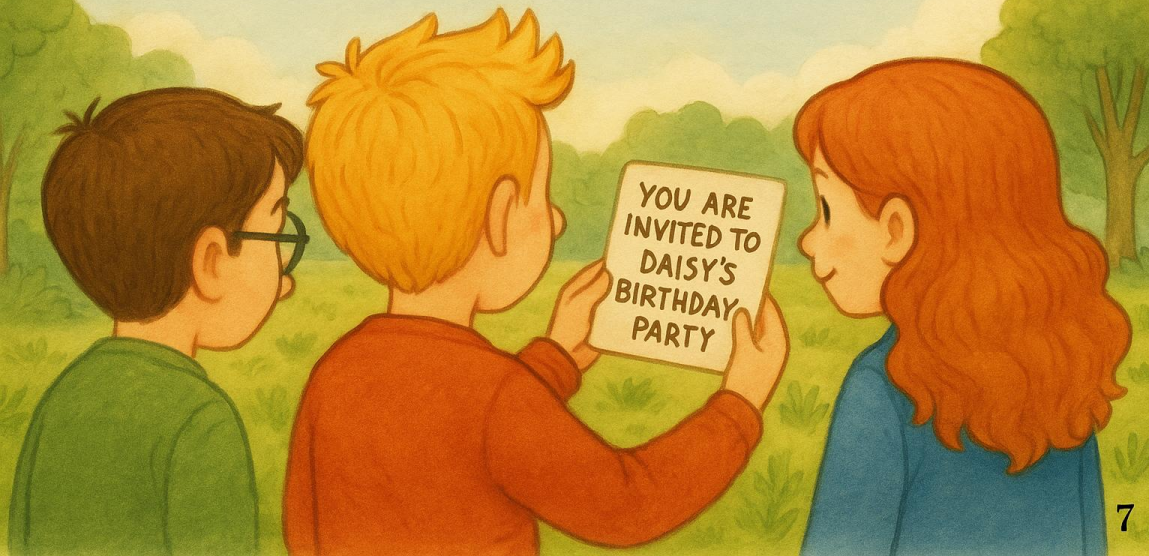

Pip ran towards it and picked it up.
“It’s my wallet!” he said happily.
He checked inside and saw that everything was still there.

“Thank you so much,
Nova. You’re a true friend.”

When Pip looked inside his wallet, he found a card inside. The card said, “You are invited to Daisy’s birthday party.” They regarded it as strange.

Chip: “This is so absurd.

Nova: “I think we should join that party.”

Pip: “I agree with Nova.

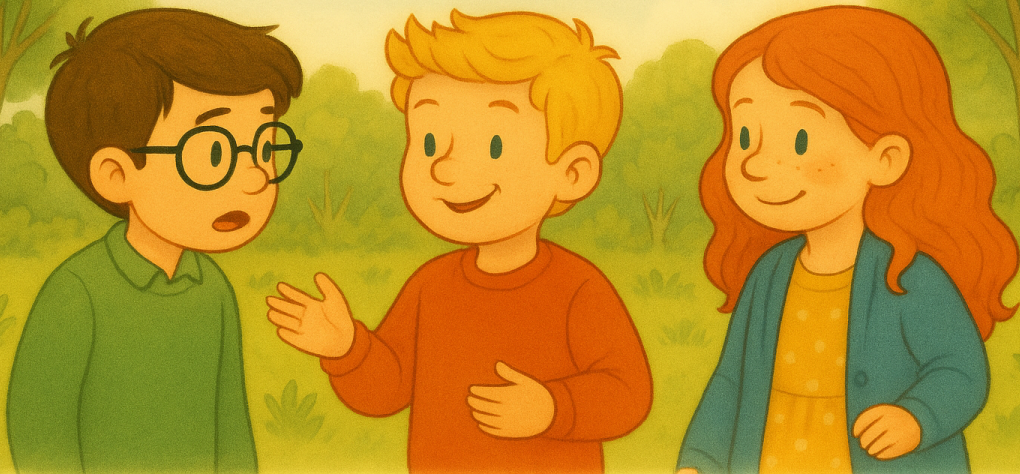

Pip: Chip, please come with us!”

Nova: Please, Chip.

Chip: Lucky you, I’m coming.

Pip and Nova shouted, “Yay!” all together.

After a few days later, with great excitement, Nova knocked on Pip and Chip's door, and after getting ready, they all set off together.

When they arrived to party, the monsters welcomed them. When Chip saw the monsters, he suddenly screamed in fear. Nova and Pip were shocked.

No one could utter a word, and as Pip turned his right, he realized that Chip has fainted. Children and monsters took action to help Chip.

When the monsters helped Chip, Nova and Pip realized that they were not that scary. They met with the monsters and learned their names: Daisy and Lila.

Chip was still afraid of the monsters, but they approached him gently. Once Chip overcame his fear, he and Lila had a lovely chat.

Then Lila and Daisy looked at their new friends and said,
“We need your help. Our favorite kite is stuck in a tall tree in the park!”

Pip, Chip, and Nova agreed to help right away.

They all worked together. Nova climbed the ladder, Pip held the ladder, and Chip gathered his courage to reach higher. At last, Chip caught the kite

Everyone cheered loudly. Daisy and Lila hugged Chip.

Chip smiled proudly. “I did it with your help.” They all learned that friendship means helping each other and never judging anyone for being different.

The end.

